

TEACH THE YOUNG FILIPINO

American Educators Are Doing a Wonderful Work in America's Eastern Possessions.

Within a few years of America's possession of the Philippines 600,000 bright Filipino boys and girls were found in schoolhouses scattered all over the islands studying modern textbooks illustrated from Philippine life. Fifteen hundred American schoolteachers had come over ten thousand miles to the debilitating climate of the islands to enable these boys and girls to know the facts of history, the wonders of life, the secrets of healthful living.

Then these young people told the story to their parents, who had never been educated under the Spanish regime. In fact, to be educated was the privilege only of the estrado, or upper classes. And these Filipino children told their parents they must open the windows of their nipa (straw-thatched) huts at night and let in the fresh air; and that it was not sanitary for each member of the family in turn to smoke the long, black family cigar which was suspended from the ceiling. They told them, too, that water must be boiled to prevent the spread of typhoid, which had steadily decimated the population.—Christian Herald.

Test of Utility.

On the appearance of anything new and important, the majority of people ask, "Of what use is it? And they are not wrong; for it is only through the utility of anything that they are enabled to estimate its value.—Goehe.

TALKS ON BIBLE; DROPS DEAD

Lecturer at Brooklyn Expires Whispering "Pray to Jesus for Anything You Want."

Cornelius D. Weaver, lawyer, of 342 Fifty-sixth street, Brooklyn, dropped dead when addressing a meeting at the Mariners' temple. He had been quoting and lecturing on Biblical texts before an audience of forty or fifty persons, mostly boys and young men.

He stopped suddenly and fell from the platform to the floor just in front of the chairs. The boys picked him up and heard him say: "Pray to Jesus for anything you want."

A policeman was called, and he summoned an ambulance from the Hudson Street hospital. Doctor Slater responded, but found that Mr. Weaver had died almost instantly. Heart disease was the cause.

A Comfort.

A certain poor woman had received some new underclothes from one who had helped the family. The woman's husband thanked the donor's husband, and a whole drama of humble ambition might be built round his words. "Mary's mighty glad to have those clothes," he said. "She says now she'll have something to hang out on the line Mondays."—Boston Record.

Immune From Appendicitis. The famous surgeon and traveler, Dr. Nicholas Senn, while visiting the hospitals and towns on the African East coast, was informed by the physicians he met that they had never come across a case of appendicitis among the black natives who live mainly on fruit and vegetables. Doctor Palmer also found the same experience among the Brahmins of India, who are strict vegetarians.

"PUT PANSIES ON MY GRAVE"

New York Man Leaves $500,000 and Specific Instructions About Last Resting Place.

Herman zur Lage, whose $500,000 estate is disposed of in a will admitted to probate at Hackensack, N. J., left specific instructions as to the care of his grave and those of his brother and sister.

"In the spring," he directed, "four dozen pansies of the best quality are to be planted on each of the graves, which pansies are to be removed therefrom on the 24th of the following May, when the graves are to be planted in the middle with yellow and red alyanthus with a border around the graves and a palm in the center of each grave; all the flowers to be planted closely so that the grave cannot be seen when the flowers are in full bloom."

"When the trees become so large that they interfere with the graves, the trees are to be removed and new trees planted in their place as follows:

"One tree at each corner of the plot, one of them to have red foliage and one to have white foliage. Also to place on each grave several days preceding Thanksgiving day of each year metal wreaths decorated with the best imported artificial flowers of one color; said wreaths to be laid and rest on cases."

BRIDE TAKES WILD PLUNGE

Trousseau and Certificate in Hand She Jumps Into Saving Arms of Groom.

With her trousseau in one hand and her marriage certificate in the other, Mrs. Mary Capella, a bride of three days, jumped from the second-story window of 1003 Annin street when fire threatened her life. Her husband, Anthony Capella, who preceded her in the dangerous leap from the window, and bade her follow, caught his bride when she jumped. As the result, he is now confined to the home of a friend suffering from painful bruises and probable serious internal injuries. Six other persons in the house, whose lives were endangered, were rescued in a spectacular manner by firemen.

The newly married couple were awakened by the cry of "Fire!" and found their room full of smoke and escape by the stairway cut off by the flames. Unable to raise the window, the bridegroom smashed sash and all away with a chair and then jumped two stories to the pavement below. He landed without being hurt, and then braced himself to catch his wife.—Philadelphia Record.
